

lessons from nature

savor the details

One of the many things nature teaches us is to savor the details. In nature the details seem so effortless and smooth.

Nature pairs the complex with the simple. The sensuous with the whimsical. It is awe inspiring how the details in a flower petal can make it look supple and delicate yet so sturdy and strong. It is the details in art and creativity that send our senses over the edge. Like a symphony note held for a moment longer than expected or the unforeseen splash of color in a black and white painting, these details capture our creative souls and allow them to sing with inspiration. Take your cue from nature and experiment with the details. Learn to savor each one as you create and view your work.

April 2010

www.laurathoma.com